The following list includes all the dates that registered student organizations are permitted to meet in University classrooms (i.e. the rooms scheduled through R&R), as well as when request processing begins for each academic semester.

As a reminder of R&R policy, student groups are not permitted to meet in University classrooms during the first week of classes, student breaks, university holidays, and after the last day of class each semester – this includes the Reading Days, final exams, and interim between semesters.
